ABOUT BAOLI

KION Baoli (Jiangsu) Forklift Co., Ltd is the international, highly competitive material handling manufacturer for the value segment. Founded in 2003, the Baoli brand was acquired in 2009 by KION, the European market leader and the world's second largest manufacturer of material handling equipment.

Baoli production facilities are located in the economic development zone of Jingjiang city, Jiangsu province, covering a total area of 340,000 square meters, nearly 700 employees, and an extensive network of dealers in more than 80 countries. The factory has modern painting and assembly lines and directly manufacturers the key components of its products.

WHY US?

The aim of Baoli is to satisfy the needs of customers who are seeking quality and reliability, but without having to have particularly complex equipment, offering a quality-price ratio which is extremely attractive thanks to components guaranteed by the KION Group combined with the pragmatism of machinery manufactured in the Far East.
